BEATPORT LAUNCHES NEW 'BASS HOUSE' GENRE CATEGORY

BERLIN, DE - MARCH 21, 2019 - Beatport today announced the addition of a new Bass House page to the store, which continues its history of identifying and championing new electronic music genres. Beatport is the first digital music store to add this new genre category.

The addition of Bass House follows the successful launch of several new Beatport genres since 2017, including Melodic House & Techno, Afro-House, Trap/Future Bass, Garage/Bassline/Grime and Leftfield Bass.

Bass House is a growing sound in the wider electronic music scene, bringing together 4/4 elements with resonant bass and syncopated drums, often influenced by breaks. Many tracks in this style previously came via artists from the worlds of Electro House and Dubstep, although a deeper strain has started to cross over into genres like Tech House and Breaks. While the sound is wide-ranging and ever-evolving, certain core components define a track as Bass House.

As Bass House expands its presence on the international scene, its big-name advocates include the artists Malaa & Tchami, AC Slater, Chris Lorenzo, Skrillex, Jauz, Taiki Nulight, Anna Lunoe and Volac. The sound has also found a home on esteemed labels like Confession, Night Bass, Spinnin', OWSLA and Audiophile XXL. In 2018, the genre's standout hits included Flava D's 'Acting Stank' (Night Bass) and Skrillex & JOYRIDE's 'Agen Wida' (OWSLA).

Beatport's new Bass House page will better showcase labels and artists in the genre, creating more opportunities for exposure and revenue. It will also continue to solidify and refine other genres on the store - such as Future House, Electro House and Tech House - by filtering Bass House content to its own page.

Malaa, resident artist on Tchami's Confession label, commented, "The launch of a new genre, like Bass House, is exciting. It's the recognition of a new sound, representing an evolution in electronic music."

Night Bass boss AC Slater commented, "Bass House is a very useful sub-genre for browsing on Beatport. It fills in all the gaps between garage/bassline and future house/electro. The Bass House section will undoubtedly include loads of exciting releases and artists."
